

18. Pvt. Louis Bentz served as the West Point bugler for 32 years, and the cadets honored him by purchasing this all-metal monument.

19. Civil & Indian Wars: Among those buried here are Maj. Gen. Judson Kilpatrick '61, known as "Kill Cavalry," for his daring and often futile mounted charges; Brig. Gen. Ranald "Bad Hand" Mackenzie '62, brevetted seven times for bravery and afterwards commander of the 4th U.S. Cavalry. His western exploits were portrayed by John Wayne in "Rio Grande." Maj. Gen. John Buford '48, superb Union cavalryman, was played by Sam Elliott in "Gettysburg."

20. Brig. Gen. Sylvanus Thayer '08, "The Father of the Military Academy," implemented the rigorous academics that established West Point as a great engineering college and developer of leaders.

21. Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott, the greatest American military leader of the early 19th Century, was the hero of the War of 1812, conqueror of Mexico City & commanded the U.S. Army on the eve of the Civil War. Cadet gray uniforms memorialize his 1814 victory at Chippewa, Ont.

22. Maj. Gen. Robert Anderson '25, is also memorialized by the fountain next to the caretaker's cottage #7. He served as an artillery instructor here prior to the Civil War which began in April 1861 when Anderson, commanding the Union forces at Fort Sumter, was fired upon by one of his former cadets, CSA Brig. Gen. P.G.T. Beauregard.

23. Lt. Col. George A. Custer '61, brevetted major general for bravery in the Civil War, died with most of the 7th Cavalry at the Battle of the Little Big Horn, June 1876. His funeral is on this guide's cover.

The Professors: 24. Col. William H. C. Bartlett '26, professor of natural philosophy, 1834-1871, one of America's foremost astronomers and author of widely-used textbooks on acoustics, optics, astronomy, mechanics and molecular physics. Bartlett Hall here is named after him. 25. Col. Albert Church '28, professor of mathematics, 1828-78, known as a cold man, once had a cadet arrested for making a mathematical joke in class. 26. Robert W. Weir, Professor of Drawing, 1834-1876. 27. Dennis Hart Mahan '24, professor of civil and military engineering, 1830-1871. Mahan Hall is named in his honor and his son, Alfred Thayer Mahan, buried at Annapolis, became America's leading sea power theorist. 28. Col. Peter S. Michie '63, professor of engineering as well as natural and experimental philosophy (physics, astronomy and optics), 1867-1901. To the right lies his son, 1st Lt. Dennis Mahan Michie '92, organizer, coach, and captain of the first Army football team in 1890, killed in action 1898 in Cuba. The West Point football stadium is named in his honor.

29. Maj. Gen. Daniel Butterfield commanded a division in the Civil War, and his ornate monument records his thirty-eight battles and engagements. He helped compose the mournful bugle call "Taps."

30. Brig. Gen. Egbert Viele '47, the Chief Engineer of Central Park in Manhattan and Prospect Park in Brooklyn. Afraid of being buried alive, his mausoleum had a light & a buzzer to signal the caretaker.

31. Sgt. 1st Class Martin "Marty" Maher served for 50 years in the Dept. of Physical Education. In "The Long Gray Line," Tyrone Power portrays Marty and Maureen O'Hara plays his wife Mary.

32. 1st. Lt. Thomas Selfridge '03, in 1908, the first person killed in a powered fixed-wing aircraft. This is a cenotaph, erected in his honor but his remains lie in Section 3 of Arlington National Cemetery, near the very spot on Fort Myer where he and Orville Wright crashed.

33. Here lie many Soldiers who fought in Afghanistan and Iraq including 1st Lt. Laura Walker '03, first female graduate killed in action, in Afghanistan in 2005, and 2nd Lt. Emily Perez '05, first female minority cadet command sgt. maj. at USMA, who was killed in Iraq in 2006.

34. In Section XII and beyond are the graves of the African-American cavalry "Buffalo Soldiers" and the bandsmen who often served their entire careers here. The restricted space on the south edge, next to Washington Road, was often used to bury smaller coffins of children.

35. Brig. Gen. Palmer Pierce '91, awarded the Silver Star in the Spanish-American War, he also fought in WWI, and was a founder & first president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

36. Col. Dr. Henry Ross '26, Academy Surgeon during most of WWII, is buried with his movie star wife, Glenda Farrell who has a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame for the "Torchy Blane" movie series.

37. Capt. Philip Egner led the West Point Band for 25 years and wrote the "West Point March" and "On Brave Old Army Team."

38. Gen. Alexander M. Patch '13, led Soldiers & Marines at Guadalcanal and the Seventh Army in Europe. His namesake son '42 led an infantry company under his father's command and was KIA in France.

39. Gen. Joseph "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell '04, led the Allies in China-Burma-India during WWII and was portrayed by Robert Stack in "1941." Directly in front is his subordinate Maj. Gen. Frank Merrill '29, commander of the 5307th Composite Unit provisional. Jeff Chandler played Merrill and John Hoyt played Stilwell in "Merrill's Marauders."

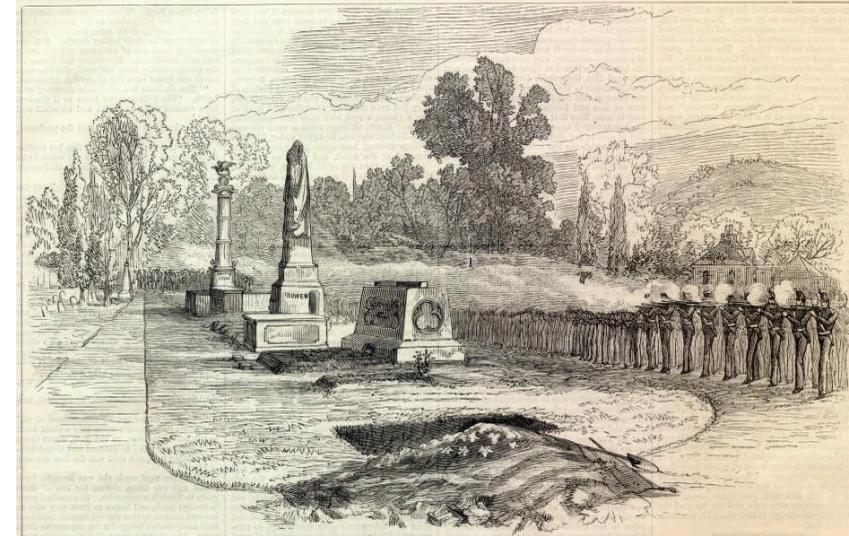

40. Col. David "Mickey" Marcus '24, investigated gangsters, served at Pearl Harbor and Normandy, helped draw up the German and Italian surrender documents and was chief of the War Crimes Division at the Nuremberg Trials. In 1948, with U.S. permission, he became the first Israeli general and was killed on the last day of the Arab-Israeli War. Actor Kirk Douglas portrayed him in "Cast a Giant Shadow."

41. Margaret "Molly" Corbin took her wounded husband's place at the cannon at the Battle of Fort Mifflin in Philadelphia in 1776.

42. Maj. Francis Dade and 114 of his 117 Soldiers were killed by Seminole Indians in 1835. Buried at St. Augustine National Cemetery, Dade is memorialized here and by Miami-Dade County Fla.

Cemetery Walking Tour

Located in New York's Hudson Highlands overlooking the Hudson River and Constitution Island on the promontory once known as German Flats, the West Point Cemetery is the final resting place of more than 8,000 souls. Revolutionary War Soldiers and local residents were buried here even before it was officially named a military cemetery in 1817. Interred here are twenty-four Medal of Honor recipients and twenty-five West Point superintendents, leaders of every American war, noted engineers, athletes, spouses and children. Those eligible for interment and inurnment in the columbarium beneath the chapel include West Point graduates, Soldiers who die while assigned here and their family members. There is no "grand plan" for the pattern of burials in the cemetery; over the years caretakers have tried to place friends and classmates close together. Casualties of our largest wars dominate whole sections. This guide provides a sample of some of the most notable gravesites.

1. Relocated here in 1897, this intricately detailed cast iron cemetery gate and its twin, next to section XXXI on Washington Road, were the main post gates. Restrooms are just east of the gate.

2. The Old Cadet Chapel, built in 1837 in a Greek Revival style, was the first permanent place of worship at the academy. It was moved piece-by-piece from the Plain after the new Cadet Chapel opened in 1910. Plaques to the right of the altar honor all Continental Army generals. However, the one for traitor Maj. Gen. Benedict Arnold, located by the balcony, has only rank and date of birth. To the left are cannons captured during the Mexican-American War and plaques honoring Soldiers killed during the War of 1812 and the Indian, Mexican-American and Spanish-American Wars.

3. Army Athletes: Earl "Red" Blaik '20, coached Army football to National Championships in 1944, 1945 & 1946. Glenn "Mr. Outside" Davis '47, won the 1946 Heisman Trophy. Maggie Dixon died in 2006 after leading women's basketball to its only NCAA Div. 1 tournament her first year here.

4. Maj. Gen. Norman "Dutch" Cota, April '17, as assistant division commander, led the 29th Division ashore on D-Day, June 6, 1944, challenging the 5th Ranger Battalion to "lead the way" off Omaha beach. He is portrayed by Robert Mitchum in "The Longest Day."

5. Lt. Gen. James "Jumpin' Jim" Gavin '29, became the youngest major general since George Custer when he took command of the 82nd Airborne Division at age 37. Robert Ryan portrayed him in "The Longest Day;" Ryan O'Neil played him in "A Bridge Too Far."

6. Lt. Col. Fredrick G. Terry '30, & Maj. Fredrick G. Terry, Jr. '60, rest together, testament to the faithful service of the Long Gray Line. The father was killed during WWII and the son in the Vietnam War.

7. The caretaker's home, built in 1872, houses the West Point Memorial Affairs and Inspector General offices. An electronic grave locator and a handicapped-accessible restroom are at the rear.

8. Gen. Gar Davidson '27, head football coach 1933-7, helped build the Pentagon, served in Seventh Army in WWII, presided over the first Nuremberg War Tribunal, directed the Pusan Perimeter in the Korean War, modernized West Point as superintendent and faced down the Russians as Seventh Army Commander during the Berlin Crisis.

9. Gen. Lucius Clay '18, served as the post-WWII Allied Commander in Europe, directing what became known as the Berlin Airlift, 1948-1949. The citizens of Berlin placed a small marker at his grave.

10. Gen. William Westmoreland '36, veteran of WWII, Korea and Vietnam was also superintendent here and Army Chief of Staff.

11. Lt. Col. (USAF) Edward White, II '52, the first American to walk in space, died on Apollo 1 with Lt. Col. (USAF) Gus Grissom in 1967.

12. Maj. Gen. George Washington Goethals '80, supervised construction of the Panama Canal. His massive headstone, which might be assumed to be from Panama, is actually from Vermont.

13. Maj. Gen. Fredrick Dent Grant '71, eldest son of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant '43 (who is interred in Grant's Tomb in Manhattan), fought in the Spanish-American War and was NYC Police Commissioner.

14. Lt. Col. Eleazor Wood '06, was killed during the War of 1812. This obelisk and the Cadet Monument #17 appear in old prints at their original location on a knoll near Trophy Point. Wood is also memorialized by Fort Wood, the star-shaped fortification on Liberty Island whose walls became the distinctive base for the Statue of Liberty.

15. Ensign Dominick Trant, a native of Ireland and a Soldier in the 9th Massachusetts Infantry, has the oldest known grave here. The nearby "Unknown" graves mark both remains relocated here and graves where, due to poor record keeping, broken or worn out headstones were just replaced with "Unknown."

16. Susan & Anna Warner lived on Constitution Island, visible across the river, where they held Sunday school for the cadets. Susan wrote one of the most popular novels of the 19th Century "The Wide, Wide World" and Anna wrote the words to the hymn "Jesus Loves Me."

17. Cadet Monument is dedicated to Cadet Vincent Lowe, killed in an artillery accident in 1817. Inscribed on the monument are names of cadets and instructors who died here in the 19th Century.
